Information About Reception of the Sacraments

The seven Sacraments of the Church were instituted by Christ to confer grace.

Sacrament of Baptism. Call the parish office to register for the parents' pre-Baptismal instruction. For adults seeking to enter the Church and be Baptized, contact our Religious Ed. Office.

Sacrament of Penance (Confession). Children in our religious education program and school are prepared for Confession at age seven, as part of First Communion preparation.

Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist. Children in our religious education program and school are prepared for First Communion at age seven. Adults seeking First Communion should contact our Religious Ed. Office Sacrament of Confirmation. Young people in our parish are prepared for reception of Confirmation in the ninth grade (age 14). For adults seeking Confirmation contact our Religious Ed. Office.

Sacrament of Marriage. Couples planning for Marriage are to contact a parish priest or deacon one year in advance to set the wedding date and plan for pre-Cana instruction.

Sacrament of Holy Orders. If you believe you have, or someone you know has, a vocation to the Priesthood or Diaconate, please contact one of our parish priests.

Anointing of the Sick. For the Sacrament of Anointing of the Sick (sometimes called "Last Rites") administered by a Priest, a person or immediate family member must make the request. Late night requests may not be able to be answered until the next day. For a visitation to the sick, or Holy Communion to the sick, contact our parish office.

Dear Parishioners,

One of my favorite television programs is the situation comedy, "Frasier." It is a sharply written comedy that ran for some eleven seasons and is built around the characters of Frasier Crane and Niles Crane, two brothers who are both psychiatrists. One of the characters in the show is the wife of younger brother Niles; her name is Maris. Maris is referenced in just about every episode, and several episodes are built around her -- however, in eleven seasons, she is never actually seen on-screen. Unseen, but important.

Judge for Yourself. Similarly, in the real world, there are people who are remembered and significant in their absence, and indeed by their absence. One of these is a man known by many as simply "Judge Crater." New York City's Judge Joseph Crater is remembered by name by anyone who grew up in New York -- he is remembered because of his absence. He went missing after dinner at Billy Haas's Chophouse on 45th Street in the city. His absence, presumably caused by underworld vengeance via New York's Tammany Hall political machine, caused a public outrage that ultimately led to the downfall of many in the Tammany Hall circle. His absence by way of corrupt actors changed New York City government for decades to come.

When Rights Ain't Right. As Catholics, for us, the life issue is so very much about those who aren't here. Whether it be by the hand of those performing abortions or those vying to create new statutory ways for people to die, like "assisted suicide," -- the absence of the least among us, caused by and under the color of law sits badly with us. We are the voices for those who can no longer speak. We are the voices to reject the "right to death" and uphold the God given "right to life."

An Orwellian Moment. In the Delaware State Legislature, HB160, the Orwellian titled "End of Life Options Act," sets out to establish and legalize assisted suicide in our state. It is likely to be pushed by its proponents in the Delaware General Assembly's House of Representatives when it reconvenes this month. They would seek the end a person's illness by administration of lethal drugs to end the person's life. Heretofore that would be considered murder or manslaughter (depending on the circumstances); it would now morph from a crime into a legal right.

Family Matters. I don't write this in a vacuum. I have had to deal with ill and suffering people in my own family facing these crippling issues of illness. My own mother, just a few years ago, faced a potential long term difficulty following a stroke. My grandmother and grandfather likewise suffered near the end of their lives. But our faith is compassionate in this area: It allows for a natural death. That is to say if a person is suffering badly, and there is little hope of recovery, we, as Catholics can let nature take its course (i.e., leave things in the hands of God) without taking what used to be called "heroic measures" to extend life for the sake of extending life.

Thus for my mom, at age 89, following her stroke she could have been put through a series of operations on her brain which may have extended her life a few months. My mom had made it clear many times: no operations, no extreme measure -- natural death. So, we left things in God's hands and mom passed naturally a few weeks later.

Sick unto Death? Now, while one need not take "heroic measures" to extend a life, nor is it ever acceptable to do the opposite and purposefully accelerate an ill person's death, with that specific intention. The sick should be cared for, the sick should be comforted, the sick should be given palliative care to ease their suffering. The sick should not be killed, and HB 160 would allow that. It must not be allowed. The only killing that should be done is to HB 160.

Hearts and Minds. I would encourage the faithful of our parish to seek the defeat of this pernicious bill. The first step, and the step many can take is to pray. Pray that this law and others like it never see the light of day. You can also encourage your friends and family to do likewise. In a more direct way, contact your legislators and explain your concerns in a respectful manner, and try to change hearts and minds by your actions.

Meanwhile in Belgium. I would caution us to learn the lesson of Belgium, one of the so-called Low Countries, of western Europe. Having legalized assisted suicide in 2003 for grave, terminal illness with suffering, initially there were few uses of the law. In the most recent year where statistics are available that number is closing in on the 2,000 per year mark.

The Slope is Slippery Indeed. Initially most of the Belgian patients who were assisted to their death had cancer or other grave illness, the slippery-slope effect kicked in. In recent years people have also been "euthanized" because they had autism, anorexia, borderline personality disorder, chronic-fatigue syndrome, partial paralysis, blindness/deafness, and manic depression. In a recent case, a patient with dementia, contrary to any stated inclination, was put down like a dog by a doctor. Euthanasia policy has now also been extended to children. A side effect of this disregard for the value of human life is that Belgium now sports one of the highest suicide rates in the world (that excludes the assisted suicides).

One wheelchair bound patient in a European nursing home put it well in a newspaper article: "As the numbers of people dying from euthanasia in Belgium grow, that slippery slope comes into vision. I'm afraid of becoming another statistic, another faceless victim. We are told that safeguards will protect us from abuses. They certainly do not protect the elderly in Belgium."

Belgium has produced great waffles, great artwork, and great architecture. They certainly, however, have produced dreadful policies and laws regarding human life. Pray for Belgium, and pray for Delaware... and pray that a respect for human life returns to our nation. Let's be reminded of this issue daily by the silenced voices of those folks that we don't see anymore. Continued blessings to you and your family this Lenten season!

Yours in Christ,
Fr. James Lentini
Pastor

Next Sunday's Mass Readings—March 11, 2018, 4th Sun. Lent
First Reading: 2 Chronicles 36:14-16, 19-23

Despite the rejection of God by the leaders of the people, God engineers their return after exile through the unexpected agency of the Persian king, Cyrus.

Second Reading: Ephesians 2:4-10

God's love is so great that even when we were dead through our sins, God brought us to life in Christ.

Gospel: John 3:14-21

A simple statement says so much: "God loved the world so much that he gave his only Son."

SCHOOL UPDATE

If one didn't know better, one might think it was "L" Week at HCS! We have had Loads of fun celebrating Literacy Week; each day set aside having a particular theme. As everyone knows, February is "I Love to Read" month, and we thank Mrs. Bolton and Mrs. Cote for their ingenuity and imagination in creating a different Leitmotif to each day of the week.

On Monday we honored Abraham Lincoln and George Washington on President's Day.

On Tuesday we kicked off the week with an event that began just after twilight. Literacy Night is an annual event at HCS when our students and parents celebrate reading good books. We demonstrated our Love for Literature.

On Wednesday we combined two of our favorite things...eating and reading. The Leitmotif for the third day of the week was Reading Your Way Through Eating. Each teacher selected stories in which food played a role in the story. Do you know what happens when You Give A Dog A Donut...or how about the outcome when You Give A Moose A Muffin? In third grade the students took a more scientific approach to their reading selection. Meteorology was the theme as Miss Overstreet and Mrs. Dottellis read Cloudy With A Chance of Meatballs and everyone enjoyed beautifully designed cupcakes with fluffy white icing (clouds) topped with squiggly lines (pasta) and a chunk of brownie (the meatball). Each class enjoyed a nourishing nosh following the reading...donuts and... muffins all around...oh my!

I Love A Parade!! Don't you? On Thursday the spotlight was on Language and Lexis. We gathered in the PH for what has become an annual event for fourth and fifth grades; our Vocabulary Parade! For instance, (picture this) if you had been able to join us you would have seen....Kendall and Emily approach the microphone. In perfect unison they declared their word. "Our word is consolidate." Kendall and Emily were both wearing what appeared to be a size 3XXX t-shirt with consolidate written across the front. How clever is THAT? They followed up their definition with a sentence using their word choice from the Lexicon and took their place in the parade Line. Brooke's word choice was furberish. She wore an adorable pink apron adorned with cleaning necessities that she had attached. Not to be outdone....no sirreeeee; in the ELC, Mrs. McGowan's four year olds had a cavalcade of their own!! Because I'm happy. Clap along, if you feel like that's what you wanna do! Skipping, and strutting themselves down the runway to the upbeat tune "Happy" our precious little Crusaders were adorably attired in costumes depicting the word they had chosen earlier in the week with Mrs. McGowan. Learning is Loads of fun at HCS!! This brings us to Friday...Read-A Loud Day! Watching everyone come to school that morning Laden down with blankets and pillows might have lead one to wonder if anyone planned to go home at the end of the day! Make no mistake...no one was taking up residence; we were prepared for a comfy cozy for read-a-Loud session in the PH. I, too, was wrapped in my own blanket seated upon Mrs. Cote's relaxing rocking chair. I thoroughly enjoyed the story of Mrs. Katz and Tush, and My Rotten Redheaded Older Brother, both by Patricia Pallaco, as well as Shoes From Grandpa by Mem Fox just to name a few. It was a great way for us to conclude our celebration of Literacy Week at HCS.

Later that afternoon, we gathered in the church for a powerful presentation of the Living Stations. The eighth grade students truly demonstrated their role as student Leaders in leading us in a most compelling and emotional worship service, reenacting Christ's walk to Calvary. The costumes, Hannah, our student cantor, Ben and Jenna, our narrators, the realistic props, all made for a moving and meaningful experience for us all. Under the direction of Mr. Jones and Mrs. Guido, these students will be taking the Living Stations to the residents of Little Sisters of the Poor in Newark later in March. A Catholic School education,...it's like no other.

We adore you O Christ and we praise you.

Because by your Holy Cross you have redeemed the world.
Amen.
