Information About Reception of the Sacraments

The seven Sacraments of the Church were instituted by Christ to confer grace.

Sacrament of Baptism. Call the parish office to register for the parents' pre-Baptismal instruction. For adults seeking to enter the Church and be Baptized, contact our Religious Ed. Office.

Sacrament of Penance (Confession). Children in our religious education program and school are prepared for Confession at age seven, as part of First Communion preparation.

Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist. Children in our religious education program and school are prepared for First Communion at age seven. Adults seeking First Communion should contact our Religious Ed. Office

Sacrament of Confirmation. Young people in our parish are prepared for reception of Confirmation in the ninth grade (age 14). For adults seeking Confirmation contact our Religious Ed. Office.

Sacrament of Marriage. Couples planning for Marriage are to contact a parish priest or deacon one year in advance to set the wedding date and plan for pre-Cana instruction.

Sacrament of Holy Orders. If you believe you have, or someone you know has, a vocation to the Priesthood or Diaconate, please contact one of our parish priests.

Anointing of the Sick. For the Sacrament of Anointing of the Sick (sometimes called "Last Rites") administered by a Priest, a person or immediate family member must make the request. Late night requests may not be able to be answered until the next day. For a visitation to the sick, or Holy Communion to the sick, contact our parish office.

Dear Parishioners,

Bishop Fulton Sheen used to say there that are two kinds of people in our world: Those who wake up and say, “Good morning, God!” and those who say, “Good God, morning.” The distinction between these two folks is that one sees God and wants to give thanks for the new day to one who gave him the new day. The other guy – and isn’t this like us some of the time – says “ugh, not another day for me to get through.” That second person isn’t thankful, he’s thank-impaired as the politically-correct language folks might want to phrase it. And yet, regardless of our outlook, here comes Thanksgiving! Here comes that day when as a nation, we need to give thanks to God, with a full heart. But, sometimes when life is tough, thanks don’t come easy.

Missal Command. When I have those moments where thanks are not easy to come by and gratitude comes at a premium, I think about the words of Christ we hear in The Roman Missal (or as some altar servers call it, “the big red book at Mass”). In the Missal, in the celebration of the Eucharist (which itself means ‘thanksgiving’), during the Eucharistic Prayer, we hear about Jesus Christ giving thanks at the most difficult moments imaginable.

- In the First Eucharistic Prayer (The Roman Canon) we hear these words: “On the day before he was to suffer he took bread in his holy and venerable hands, and with eyes raised to heaven to you, O God, his almighty Father, giving you thanks he said the blessing, broke the bread and gave it to his disciples...”
- In the Second Eucharistic Prayer we hear: “At the time he was betrayed and entered willingly into his Passion, he took bread and, giving thanks, broke it, and gave it to his disciples...”
- In the Third Eucharistic Prayer we hear: “For on the night he was betrayed he himself took bread, and giving you thanks he said the blessing, broke the bread and gave it to his disciples...”
- In the Fourth Eucharist Prayer, written in poetic tones by St. Bede, we hear: “For when the hour had come for him to be glorified by you, Father most holy, having loved his own who were in the world, he loved them to the end... he gave thanks, and gave the chalice to his disciples...”

Thankful Cheers. Imagine, knowing you are about to be put to death – an ignominious death, at that – and the first thing you think to do is give thanks to God. Nonetheless, that is what we are called to do. We are to give thanks for God’s light in what oft seems a world of darkness. That might be tough to do at time, but that is our faith! As Carla Tortelli on the TV show “Cheers” once said about our Catholic faith, “It’s not a religion for wusses.” It challenges us. We are to be a people of thankfulness, hope, and joy.

Howdy Pilgrim. Think about the Pilgrims at the first Thanksgiving in 1621: There were no Catholics present there.

Who was there? Pilgrims were there; they made a tough journey from Europe, to a new, unknown land. Along with the pilgrim were some American Indians, natives to the land. Those two groups, from different worlds, so to speak, gathered for three days and thanked God for an abundant harvest. Mind you this came after an horrendous first year, in which many Pilgrims died. And yet as Christians, they remembered their losses, they bore their crosses, but then paused to give thanks to God for their lives, for their family, for the food before them, and for their fellow men who they found in the Indian tribes of New England. We, too, are challenged to have that same faith: Yes, it is easy to give thanks when things are going our way. But, we need to be able to be thankful, to see God’s blessings, even when things are going sideways.

Of Grace and Wounds. Remember that Gospel story about the ten lepers? They came to Christ who healed them all. Only one came back to say thank you. Why? I recently read a reflection by a priest who answered that question of why; he wrote this: “They weren’t able to give thanks because they hadn’t learned that grace comes through the wounds. Primarily through the wounds of Christ but even through our own wounds. Gratitude doesn’t arise magically if it isn’t already present when times are tough. That’s why St. Paul urges us to ‘give thanks in all circumstances.’” Well said, and so true.

Words from Lincoln’s Log. In this regard, in October 1863, in the midst of a terrible Civil War (which would claim 620,000 lives), Abraham Lincoln proclaimed that there be a Day of Thanksgiving to God each November. Lincoln issued that proclamation noting the tough circumstance our nation was in, but then went on to enumerate the many good things, the many blessings, that were also seen in the past year amidst the turmoil. Of these good things and their relation to God he wrote that they “...should be solemnly, reverently and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American People. I do therefore invite my fellow citizens in every part of the United States... to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and Praise to our beneficent Father who dwells in the Heavens.”

Bottom line. It is far better to light a candle than to curse the darkness. If we don’t bring light into this world, then we just add to the darkness. So, this Thanksgiving Day, be thankful – because there is much for which to thankful. In a world of darkness, giving thanks, being grateful, brings light – the light of God – to you and those around you. So, be grateful for the blessings you have had in this life; be grateful for the hope of heaven extended to you; and be grateful to God who so loved the world, that he sent his only Son as its Savior. A joyous and Happy Thanksgiving to all of you!

Yours in Christ,
Fr. James Lentini
Pastor

SCHOOL INFORMATION

In my line of work I get a lot of junk mail, both hard copy and the electronic sort. I am quick to fill a trash can with both of those varieties. Now, I do admit to being less hasty with the hard copy variety because I might suspect a good deal, an opportunity, or oh my gosh...does this look like it might be a check???

My recollection of one particular mailing I received last spring aroused my curiosity. So before tossing it in the trash, I opened it. Well! To my utter surprise and prideful amazement I was staring at an invitation from Sussex County Return Day Committee. Our band was being asked to participate in the upcoming Return Day parade to be held in November. What an honor!

For those who are not familiar with the Return Day event, it is a celebratory event held in Georgetown, DE held on the Thursday following an election. During this uniquely Delaware event, Republicans, Democrats and everyone in between drop the labels and the animosity – if only for a few hours – for an oddly refreshing political celebration that features a literal burying of a hatchet. Since at least 1812, it has been tradition for people to flock to the seat of Delaware's most southern – and most conservative – county to hear who won the election held two days earlier. In the 19th century, the trip was a necessity for farmers eager to learn who their newly elected representative would be. Now it's just for the fun of carrying on history.

Naturally, we accepted the invitation! After we performed admirably in the Veterans Day parade two weekends prior to, it was time to get the rank and files back in shape for the biggest parade Holy Cross Band had ever participated in!

Once we packed up the storage units on the buses with all the drums, we boarded and we were off for Georgetown. We were so excited! The signs of the fall season were just lovely as we drove down Route 1. It could not have been better weather for a parade. Pulling into the back parking lot of Sussex Middle School where all the bands were to assemble, we noticed other high school bands from Sussex Tech, and Indian River unpacking all their gear from their fancily designed trailers bearing their handsome school emblems. I noticed that our little band was a source of curiosity. Several of the band members from ST ventured over and asked where we were from. Again, I was filled with such pride, I just cannot even tell you. One of the event officials approached me and inquired as to who we were. I told her, and she checked us off the list. She gave me a copy of the list. Imagine how Mrs. S, Mrs. Z and I felt when we noted that WE WERE THE ONLY MIDDLE SCHOOL BAND ON THE LIST!! All of a sudden we felt our little band stood ten feet tall!

But then we watched the huge charter buses from UD drive onto the lot in great resplendence. Then I thought, "ok; maybe we are just a smidgen like Stuart Little." But then...we started to play! Stuart Little, no more!! I cannot find the right words to express my gratification for those in the crowd who voiced encouragement along the parade route. It was a long parade, the longest we ever marched. But they all held in like little professionals, God bless every one of them.'

The drive back was a quiet one. That's what self-satisfaction and exhaustion sounds like.

Giving Tree

The Giving Tree will be in the Gathering Space beginning November 24/25. We are helping families primarily from within our Holy Cross community (parishioners, school, religious ed., elderly and homebound), but also from other agencies within the Dover community. We try to get 3 to 5 items for each child but the tag you take only has one item listed on it.

Items must be returned to the Gathering Space, Christmas wrapped, with the tag taped to the front of the package by Sunday, December 16, so they can be sorted and prepared to distribute to the proper families. If for any reason you are unable to provide the gift, please return the tag to the Parish Office. Thank you for your generosity during this blessed holiday season.

We will also our small tree for the Samaritans which will contain envelopes to make an anonymous donation for the Samaritan Food Pantry. These envelopes can be put into the collection basket, mailed to the Parish Office, or handed directly to the priest at mass. Thank you for your continued support and generosity.
