PASTOR'S COLUMN

Dear Parishioners,

From the First-Things-First Dept. – The answers to last week's Christmas Crossword can be found at the end of this column.

Extra Seasoning. Well, this weekend we celebrate the Baptism of the Lord, and thus, we end the Christmas season for this liturgical year. While the world around us seemingly finished its celebration on December 26th, we continued, in faith, to share in that joy of the coming of our savior for 19 more celebratory days! And, not only did we celebrate the coming of Jesus Christ, but also his Holy Family, Mary's Motherhood, His manifestation to the Three Kings (Epiphany), and, today, His Baptism by St. John the Baptist. However, in this column, on this weekend, I would like to focus our attention back to December 25 – the start of the Christmas season. I often note that St. Anastasia, who is mentioned during the praying of the Roman Canon, has her feast day on December 25. Thus, in addition to being gypped out of birthday gifts, poor St. Anastasia is also never the recipient of a memorial at Mass.

Eighty-sixed on the 25th. This got me to thinking: Is St. Anastasia alone in this Christmas lock-out? Well, I'll end the suspense: The answer is no. There are 19 saints (including one group of Martyrs) who are observed on that day, to wit: St. Adalsindis, St. Alburga of Wilton, St. Anastasia, Blessed Artale, St. Basilee, Blessed Bentivoglio de Bonis, Blessed Diego de Aro, St. Eugenia of Rome, Blessed Fulk of Toulouse, Blessed Jacopone, St. Jovin, Blessed Maria Therese von Wullenweber, Blessed Matthew of Albano, Blessed Michael Nakashima Saburoemon, Blessed Nera, St. Peter Nolasco, Blessed Peter the Venerable, St. Romulus of Berry, and the Martyrs of Nicomedia. Each of these holy men and women have their feast day on December 25 and, thus, are often overlooked in the annals of Christendom. In this column, I'll highlight the lives of four of these 19 saints and take you beyond the Christmas tree!

St. Anastasia: Burning Love. St. Anastasia's story is mainly relayed to us from the ancient writings called the Acts of Saint Chrysogonus the Martyr. Of noble birth, she was widowed young, and spent her time and money assisting persecuted Christians. While in Illyria (western Balkan peninsula) visiting St. Chrysogonus, a priest imprisoned for practicing his faith, she was likewise imprisoned. Under Roman Emperor Diocletian's harsh decrees against Christians, St. Anastasia, who would not recant her faith, was taken to the island of Palmarola (off the west coast of Italy) and was burned alive for being a Christian. The Church of Sant'Anastasia al Palatino (in Rome) was dedicated in her honor in the 4th century. Until the mid-1960s, St. Anastasia was commemorated during the Christmas Mass at Dawn, each Christmas Day. St. Anastasia, pray for us.

Gee, It's Quiet! Bl. Bentivoglio de Bonis was born in 1188 in San Severino Marche, Italy. For those fans of Medaglia d'Oro coffee, you will note that like the "g" in Medaglia, the "g" in Bentivoglio is silent. Imagine, a silent "g" -- we'd never do such a thing in English, RIGHT? Anyway, Bl. Bentivoglio became a fervent disciple of St. Francis, and became one of first -- if not the first -- Franciscan Priest. He was model of humility, obedience and charity. Once, when inflamed by the Holy Spirit while preaching to the people, it is said that a luminous star appeared in his forehead that made his whole-body shimmer and shine with pure light. Many miracles were attributed to him, and he brought many people to conversion to the faith. He passed from this life on December 25, 1232 and won his Medaglia d'Oro (Gold Medal) from God, and now shares eternity with the saints in Heaven. Bl. Bentivoglio, pray for us.

Incensed by Incense. At Nicomedia, several thousand of the faithful had gathered for Mass on the day of our Lord's Nativity. Christian-hating Roman Emperor Diocletian heard about this gathering and ordered that the doors of the Church to be closed, and fire to be kindled around the building. He also ordered that a vessel filled with incense be placed in the entranceway to the Church. His henchmen then announced that any who wished to escape the burning Church should come to the entranceway, burn incense to Roman god Jupiter, and they'd be allowed to leave in safety. All the Christian present shouted with one voice that they preferred to die for Christ, then worship a false god. And on that December 25, 304, those Christian martyrs earned their reward and were born into heaven on the anniversary of the day Christ was born into the world. Holy Martyrs of Nicomedia, pray for us.

A Man called "Crazy Jim" (This is Not Autobiographical). St. Jacopone started out as a decadent, wealthy, and worldly man named Jacamo. He was married to a holy woman named Vanna (though this one did not turn letters on Wheel of Fortune). After Vanna was killed in an accident, Jacamo learned his wife had always prayed that one day he'd abandon his wealth and his worldly ways. To honor her wishes, he gave up all his wealth and became a beggar. His friends nicknamed him "Jacopone" (meaning "Crazy Jim"). He went on to join the Franciscan order, where he lived an utterly ascetic life of poverty. After some ups and downs with the Franciscans, he spent his final years writing Latin hymns; the most famous of which is the "Stabat Mater" (which is sung between the Stations of the Cross). He died on December 25, 1306, during Midnight Mass. Whether or not his envelope made it into the collection basket, only the Franciscans know for sure! St. Jacopone, pray for us.

So, as we wrap up this Christmas season, let's take a moment to remember those holy men and women blessed to share a sacred day with the Lord whom they loved so very much. Saints of Christmas Day, pray for us!

Yours in Christ,
Fr. James Lentini, Pastor

SCHOOL INFORMATION

I don't think I'm alone in my thinking that a break away from the day in and day out work routine is beneficial for the worker bee on many levels. In the life of the school student, an extended break is always a welcome and eagerly anticipated respite from the day in and day out work routine. This time offers an opportunity for rejuvenation, and a chance to see how the rest of the world operates during normal school hours.

It's the coming back part that presents the challenge for most. I'm going out on a limb when I say that there were few, if any, students impatiently awaiting the return to school on January 2nd. Sleeping in, no homework, playing with friends, visiting family, traveling, staying up later than normal; all of these are far more appealing than the five day routine of the school week. However, along about January 1st, the grim reality of the return to school sets in and before we know it, the 7:40 bell tolls, the doors fly wide open, and it's back to the races whether we like it or not!

At certain points in my career as an educator, I have pondered the concept of the year round school academic calendar. As I have communicated on many occasions, I dread the emptiness of school buildings and the absence of the children during the summer months. I remain steadfast in my thinking that there is much good in the theory of year-round education (YRE) where schedules are typically: 45 days in, 15 days off or 60 days in, 20 days off. ... and... Students still attend school a total of 180 days per year.

There are some benefits for year-round education and they include:

Students tend to forget a lot during the summer break, so a shorter time away from school might increase retention rates.

It's a more efficient use of school space because otherwise buildings are unoccupied during the summer.

Remediation can occur when it is most needed – during the school year. The notion of summertime tutoring, (unless done consistently and under the tuition of a professional educator) is highly overrated.

All innovative thinkers have their critics and the notion behind YRE is no exception. Unfortunately, studies have been inconclusive to its academic benefits, i.e. standardized test scores have not shown conclusive evidence that YRE contributes to higher achievement.

Resigning myself to the reality that it won't happen here, I find consolation in the fact that our students have the benefit of a solid Catholic education, under the instruction of dedicated professional educators for the duration of the traditional school calendar, with summer Reading and Math packets to see them through until that glorious first day back to school in the fall.

May I remind everyone that we are still in the season of reduced re-registration fees? During the month of January, re-registration will be offered at the reduced rate of $75.00 per child. Taking advantage of post-Christmas holiday sales is often a “no-brainer.” No one can resist those discounted prices on wrapping paper and holiday décor; so why not consider this one of those post-holiday opportunities to save a few dollars with the knowledge that you have made an investment in another year of quality education for your children.

NUESTRA FAMILIA

- El domingo 6 de diciembre celebraremos la Epifanía del Señor, conocido como día de Reyes , tendremos nuestra tradicional Rosca de Reyes. Los reyes llegaron para adorar al Niño y darle aguinaldo a nuestros niños. Si usted desea colaborar con una Rosca o con una olla de atole o champurrado hable con la Sra. Arline Dosman.
- La fiesta de Nuestra Señora de la Candelaria tienen lugar generalmente el 2 de febrero, marcando la presentación oficial de Jesús en el Templo de Jerusalén, 40 días después de Navidad, cuando la Virgen María ha sido purificada, siguiendo la ley del Antiguo Testamento. En inglés se le conoce como Candlemas, porque en Europa existía la tradición de traer velas a la iglesia para ser bendecidas como parte de la celebración. Es habitual que haga una convivencia después de la misa y a las personas que les salió el Niño Jesús en la ‘Rosca de Reyes’, el 6 de enero, tengan que hacer tamales y atole, ambos platos a base de maíz. Esta tradición también tiene raíces prehispánicas, ya que muchos acostumban llevar su maíz a la iglesia a fin de bendecir sus cosechas después de plantar sus semillas para el nuevo ciclo agrícola que está a punto de comenzar. Pueden traer viste a una imagen del Niño Jesús a la misa antes de colocarlo en un nicho donde permanecerá por el resto de ese año.
- Necesitamos: Lectores, Ministros Extraordinarios de la Comunión (necesitan ser aprobado por el párroco), Ujieres. Ministerio de la Música. Comparte con otros los talentos que el Señor les ha dado.
- Los Bautismos son los primeros domingos de cada mes, después de la Santa Misa en Español 2:30 pm. La clase pre-bautismales son los segundos domingos de cada mes. Los requisitos para ser padrinos tienen que ser Católicos practicante, y en comunión con la iglesia.
